SUMMARY

I'm currently learning Front-End development and have completed the basics of HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. I'm also learning React to build modern, interactive user interfaces, I use Git and GitHub to manage my projects and track my progress, and I'm working on small applications to improve my practical skills. I'm looking for a training or internship opportunity where I can continue learning, gain real-world experience, and grow within a team. I'm passionate about development, always eager to learn new tools, and ready to contribute and improve.
